Meet A Performer: Irma Bejashvili

When your Editor was wandering high up in the Grand Palais, the other day, in the Espace Jeanne de Flandre on the I I th floor, his attention was drawn by the board of directors to one specific participant who not only played draughts and checkers, but also chess and the violin. The latter capacity only was already more than enough for me to try and find her for one of our daily interviews. When I finally addressed her, she graciously accepted and below you can read the result of all that.

The really multitasking participant in question is Irma Bejashvili. She was born on April 16, 1967 in Tbilisi, the capital of what was then the Soviet Republic of Georgia. After school, she went to the Georgian National Operetta Theatre School to become a professional artist. After graduating there, she took up a career as a singer and actress in comedy theatres and operettas. She became the prima ballerina in the theatre of Kutaisi, the parliamentary capital and second largest city in Georgia, and at the same time, joined the Operetta Theatre in Warsaw (Poland) for 14 consecutive operatic seasons, from 1984 to 1997. When we came to speak about her own musical preferences, it soon turned out that she is fully aware of the fact that there is much more interesting music around than operetta only. Among her favourites are not only Bizet's opera Carmen but also the songs by Debussy and of course, the greatest theatre composer of them all, Italy's Giuseppe Verdi. "And don't forget his Requiem, maybe his best opera after all..."

Apart from this, she also loves pop music and, of course, Georgian traditional music and Georgian food. At this point, it was time for me to introduce the questionnaire to her, secretly hoping for some unorthodox responses.

I was not to be disappointed.:

What kind of food makes you happy?

Fish, Japanese, Georgian, French.

And what drink?

Dry red wine.

Who is your favourite author?

Nietzsche, Uspensky, Dumas

Do you have a favourite actor? George Clooney.

Actress?

Angelina Jolie.

Do you have a favourite painter or artist? Dali, Degas, Monet.

What do you see as your best ever result?

Finishing 2nd in my first-ever checkers tournament in Sanremo, a few years ago;

This is only my second international checkers tournament.

What is the best chess country in the world?

Thanks to Internet you can find good chess players everywhere in the world

What is it you dislike in a person?

Lack of culture and education as well as the inability to say "sorry" if appropriate.

Do you have any superstitions concerning checkers or chess?

No. Even less so if God helps me...

Which three people would you invite to dinner? My family. I don't see them very often as my mother, sisters and brothers are all living in different places around the world.

Is there something you'd love to learn?

Yes: basically everything. You should never stop learning.

A Notice To All Players

Please, feel free to visit any playing area in the Grand Palais to see the other sports in progress. Time will usually permit the organisers to welcome you!

On a regular daily basis BridgeTopics.com will transmit videos giving impressions from the Grand Palais in Lille about the 2nd World Mind Sports Games, by means of interviews with players and personalities of all sports.

The Daily Little Interview - 2

A new feature designed to tell you more about some of the particpants here in Lille.

Name

Natalia Kovaleva

Date of Birth

20 September 1987.

Place of Birth

Chelyabinsk, Russia.

Place of Residence

Moscow, Russia.

Chelyabinsk is a city in the South Ural region of Russia, on the border between Europe and Asia.

In Chelyabinsk, Natalia went to the same secondary school as Anatoly Karpov, the former chess world champion. After that, she graduated in business management at Chelyabinsk University before moving to Moscow and becoming a professional Go player and Go teacher.

What kind of food makes you happy? Russian and Chinese.

And what drink?

Fresh juices, preferably made by myself.

Who is your favourite author?

Lermontov and, of course, Pushkin.

Do you have a favourite actor? Brad Pitt.

Actress?

Angelina Jolie - but not quite convincingly.

Who is your favourite painter?

Salvador Dali.

What kind of music do you like to listen to?

Russian pop music but there is nothing wrong with Tchaikovsky.

I also like the Russian National Anthem, even more so when I have won...

What do you see as your best ever result?

Winning the European Mixed Pairs Go championship five years in a row.

Do you have a favourite Go game?

Yes: the one in which I beat a Japanese pro during the Ist WMSG in Beijing.

What is the best Go country in the world? China.

What are Go players particularly good at (except for Go)?

Mathematics and informatics.

What is it you dislike in a person? Dishonesty, insincerity.

Do you have any superstitions concerning Go?

Which three people would you invite to dinner?

Yelena Isinbayeva, Lidiya Skoblikova (a speed skating Olympic and World champion from Chelyabinsk) and my great-grandmother who, according to our family traditions, was a very interesting person whom I never have had (or will have) the privilege to know.

Is there something you'd love to learn? Better English, and also Chinese.

Euromath Final Lille 2012

Mathematical Games were invited to the WMSG for the final of Euromath Cup which took place on Saturday, August 18th . The event was organised by the FFJM (French Federation of Mathematical Games), with the support of the mathematical culture magazine Tangente and the calculators Casio.

The two teams (Belgium and France) each consisted of 6 players and a non-playing captain. The players had to be under 10 years old (for number 1), 12 years old (number 2), 15 years old (number 3), 18 years old (number 4), 21 years old (number 5), no condition was required for player number 6.

The first round was a written individual contest. 6 questions were asked to every player, questions I to 6 asked to player number I, questions 4 to 9 to player number 2, and so on, questions I6 to 21being asked to player number 6.

The second and the third round (5 tests each) were collective spectacular questions (at least two players in each team) asked in Eurotop Auditorium in front of an audience of about 150 spectators. The principle of the questions was:

- · No specific knowledge was required
- The tests had to be spectacular
- Every spectator could understand and try to answer
- The questions were difficult enough to solve to have a good discriminating effect.

The players were very talented, the score was very close all the time and finally France won by a small margin. (France 70 – Belgium 66)

Let's show you a couple of the easiest tests:

The apples (players number I and 2)

Three bags contain two apples each. One bag contains a red apple and a green apple, another two green apples, the last one two red apples. On the bags, appear three labels: GG (green-green), GR, RR. No label corresponds to the actual contents.

The players could ask the referee to pick out apples from the bag of their choice. Each apple costs one point. The aim is to guess the content of the three bags.

How to play?

The right place (players I to 6)

The six players stand on the stage in an order given by the referee (see the line up).

Number I plays first. He asks two of his partners to change their places. Then player number 2 asks two of his partners to change their places. And so on, players number 3, 4,....

The aim is to build up the natural order in a minimum of movements.

Live Go Broadcasts from Lille

The two top games of each round are being broadcast live:

Chess Legends

Baruch Harold Wood MSc OBE (more commonly known as B. H.Wood) (1909-1989) was an English chess player, editor and author, best known as the founder of the magazine Chess (1935) which has become one of the best known in the world. In 1939 he represented Great Britain in the Olympiad in Buenos Aires.

Mark Horton, working here in Lille as part of the WBF staff at the World Bridge Games was himself a strong player. Amongst his many activities he acts as a consultant to the company that now produces both Chess Magazine and Bridge Magazine.

Here is a game he played against BH in Nottingham in 1966. Mark went on to qualify for the final of the British Championship making him the youngest ever participant until the advent of Nigel Short in 1977.
